

Where the money goes

In the UK it is estimated that 1 in 4 pregnancies end in loss during pregnancy or birth. And that 60,000 babies are born prematurely each year. These numbers are simply too high.

Tommy's lead research, deliver expert information and care, and provide support throughout the pregnancy journey. We challenge inequity and campaign for change to make pregnancy and birth safer.

What we do

- We fund pioneering research to identify why pregnancy goes wrong, which helps us to understand how we can prevent complications and loss, as well as enabling specialist care for people at our clinics, research centres and across the NHS.
- We provide expert, midwife-led advice for parents before, during and after pregnancy, working together towards safer, healthier pregnancies.
- We foster a connected, caring community, united in our goal to make pregnancy safer for all and advocating for and supporting those who have lost babies.

£50

could fund a call with a midwife answering a worried mums pregnancy questions

£100

could fund a Tommy's scientist for a day to make ground-breaking discoveries that save babies' lives

£200

could fund a Tommy's research midwife at one of Tommy's Research Clinics for a day

